“ I share this picture because this is me and my Jordyn (he was her special butler). I know she reminded him of me when I was little. He cared for her so much and she already knew what happened before she was told and also predicted he would somehow come home before Easter. We will talk about you everyday Tio, we will laugh and always remember your silly stories and actions. I love the time you spent with my kiddos. Tia will now take the reigns and they love her just the same. We love you!!!

“ No words can describe the loss of a great person such as Wally. He saw me grow up from a teenager to a family man and always welcomed us with a smile. Best memory I have of him hard to forget. We visited him and Mary so they could meet my daughter. It was around Halloween time and he came out their back room with the scariest mask on to scare my daughter. He didn't expect her reaction of course scared the living heck out of her. Here is Wally then carrying her trying to calm her down. Such a kind hearted individual once you got to meet him. For ever in our heart my friend we have no relation but he was family and continue to be. Rest In Peace my friend and Mary we are here for you. Love always Luis and Eve Avila.
