“ Although the the songs have been sung, the message preached, and the goodbyes said, I will never forget this kind and gentle soul. She was high on my list of best friends and as today Nov. 30th would have been her birthday, we need to all stop and remember all of the good things she did for other people, many times when she did not feel like it physically. We need to take a lesson from her life as far as helping others. Happy Birthday, old and loving friend.
