“ I am disheartened by hearing about his passing...I always enjoyed cutting up with him at Publix..he would make comments in parody and lightheartedly suggest that I take other interests...he was such a great person with the heart of gold..he knew no strangers and refused to be isolated by interests or values...he was a phenomenon of an individual...and I'm sure..to his associates..my heart and condolences go out to his family and friends.

“ Kevin married his best friend and my cousin Joni. He always loved her and Aidan more than we know. He always made conversation and laughed with all of us. There are alot of past memories and way too many to be made lost. His kind heart and spirit and energy will be missed in our family. RIP Kevin!

“ Kevin was one of the first friends I made when I transferred to public school. I was assigned a seat next to him in my first period class and he immediately snatched my schedule out of my hand to see what classes I had. He made me feel included, which was huge for me at the time. We went on to become coworkers at Publix and he and I were a part of the same friend group. He made work fun. We grew to become like brother and sister. Constantly bickering and annoying each other, as siblings do. I was over the moon when he married one of my best friends at the time, Joni. They were such a sweet couple. She made him better, her love for him made him better. I will miss him dearly.
