Dear Granny,

I don't know where to start....let me begin by saying that you were one of the most amazing ladies I have ever known in my 39 years of life.

There was never a time when you weren't willing to give all you had for those that you loved. You not only lived a long life, 98 years 12 days to be exact, but you made so many people feel loved and happy during that time.

You worked hard for as long as I've known you, you would go to work every night and never complain, you came home slept for a few hours, then got up and cooked for whoever happened to be there at the moment, whether it be one of your kids, grandkids or even the neighborhood kids we used to run around with, and then you would start getting ready for work again....but then you retired...lol...I only laugh at that because you couldn't sit still even then. You were always watering your flowers, mowing the yard (and the grove, because nobody else could do it like you wanted.), feeding your birds and anything else that happened along.

You taught me things that nobody else did. How to wash dishes, sweep and mop, how to use a vacuum, even how to not be wasteful. I've done my best to instill these same things in my children, I am as proud of them as you always were with us.

I remember when I first told you I was pregnant with Byron, you weren't disappointed. You told me it's gonna be hard, but you can do it. You were right. It is hard, but with bits of wisdom that you have passed down through the years I've realized that I can do this whole adulting thing.

Thank you. Thank you for teaching us to be strong and self reliant. Thank you for being our strength when we felt like we just couldn't do it. Thank you for being you.

I know that I haven't said it enough over the years, but I love you more than you will ever know. It's too late to tell you that everyday now and to kiss your cheek, but I know that you will be with me everyday, the same as Gigi, Uncle Buddy Lester Harris , London

Caldwell, Sonny, and Jamie Purvis. You are all looking down on us now, I hope that we live up to what y'all would have wanted us to. You will always be missed beautiful Granny of mine. Fly high with everyone that was there waiting on you, and tell those that are up there with you that we love and miss them as well.

*Rest in Heavenly Paradise Mary Linda Kilpatrick
You have more than earned your angel wings.*

“ One of The Best of the Best... truly definition of family doesn't always mean blood... She was my Granny loved me like I was her own! She lived her life showing what meaning of love was... was always teaching and sharing stories. I learned to dip from granny lol and loved those dump rides. What a celebration Heaven has been having since Granny Mary got there!!! She will be greatly missed:-)
